From our Vicar

‘I have become wiser than my enemies, more prudent than my teachers and I have an understanding deeper than that of my elders... because your teaching, O Lord, has always been before my eyes and your precepts I have always observed.’ (Ps 119:98-100). It is possible also for others who follow the example of the psalmist to become what he became. The great Fathers of the Church like St Gregory, St Augustine, St Ambrose, St Leo, St Chrysostom, St Basil and all the doctors were all most prudent and wise and understanding and consequently holy too. From their sermons and writings we gather how deep their knowledge of the scripture was. For them the word of God was the rule of their life. Everything was judged in its light, for everything they said or did, there was always a scriptural passage to support it. The word of God was indeed a lamp for their feet and a light for their path (Ps 119:105). With this lamp and light they could not go astray, they could not miss their way. It is impossible that we who really meditate on the word of God, on his law, should get lost on the way.

One loses one’s way to salvation when one allows oneself to be led astray by the attractions of this world. There are so many of them. But I would mention here just two of the main ones: greed and lust. The word of God, with so many examples and in so many ways, shows us how those who went after these paid heavily for their folly and lost themselves at the end.

Achan took and hid in his tent some of the booty taken in the sacking of Jericho though it was strictly forbidden to do it. The whole of Israel suffered for this greed of Achan and Achan himself with his entire household was stoned to death.

All the preaching and instructions of Jesus over a period of three years on detachment and trust in God's providence had no effect on Judas. He was attached to money. He, the bursar of the group, took away whatever was put into the common purse. His greed made him even sell his Master for thirty pieces of silver. And the consequence?

Tobias both preached and practised almsgiving. He spent his time and money in giving succour to his oppressed brethren. Rather than lose, at the end, he gained more than what he gave.

Referring to Ex. 16:18, St Paul said that he who gathers much will not have anything left over, and he who gathers little, will not go in want

(I Cor 8:15).. and in another passage he says that the love of money is a root from which every kind of evil springs (I Thim 6:10).

Can one who reads and meditates on the message God gives us through such passages, be led astray by greed?

Another big attraction which blinds man and leads him astray is lust. Innumerable have been the victims of this monster from the earliest times to our own day.

The word of God contains examples and teachings concerning all the virtues to be practised and all the vices to be avoided. Through them God tells us what is good and what is evil, what to do and what not to do. If we pay attention to his instructions, if we meditate on what he tells us, then we too shall become wiser than our enemies, more prudent than our teachers and more understanding than our elders.

regularly. Children are preparing for their Diocesan and Annual examination. They are also having their Annual competitions and G. K. Kurian memorial singing competition during this month. The Sunday School Sunday will be observed on 20th October 2019. Our Sunday School children will be participating in the worship service. Please remember them in your prayers every day.

Counselling Centre

'Therefore confess your sins to each other and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The prayer of a righteous person is powerful and effective.' (James 5:16)

The best way to develop humility is to confess our sins. Spiritual healing is attained when a person prays for another. When we are in sickness or trouble, we may not be able to open up and confess our sins and pray for forgiveness of sins. It is good to have someone

- someone who can keep confidentiality
- to share our problems and burdens of our heart and to pray together. Praying together and sharing our problems can lead us to blessings. You are welcomed to visit the centre with faith and confidence.

Women's Fellowship

"Praise the Lord! Happy are those who fear the Lord, who greatly delight in His commandments." (Psalm 112:1).

Our members Mrs. Liz Varghese

John and Mrs. Josphine Arul were deputed to share the Word of God at CSI Christ Church, Elamkulam for English Service and at All Saints Church, Kalamassery, for Malayalam service respectively.
